RE: Resolution 020042016-1 – Vote of No Confidence

On April 20, 2016, the Kalāualani Council, an authorized governance organization of Kapi'olani Community College representing Native Hawaiian faculty and staff of the College, received the results of the vote of no confidence taken via Helios, a secure and encrypted polling system. The results revealed a 73% participation of the Kalāualani Council with 78% supporting a vote of no confidence against the Chancellor Leon Richards' leadership and management of the college.

The Kalāualani Core Council passed the following resolution:

Resolution:

The Kalāualani Council moves that due to the outcome of the April 20, 2016 Kapi'olani Community College Kalāualani Council's vote of no confidence against Chancellor Leon Richards be sent to John Morton, Vice President for Community Colleges; David Lassner, President for the University of Hawai'i; and Randolph Moore, Chair for the University of Hawai'i Board of Regents.

The Kalāualani Council also moved that John Morton, Vice President for Community Colleges and David Lassner, President for the University of Hawai'i remove Chancellor Leon Richards from the campus immediately. At the present moment, April 21, 2016 at 2:11 p.m. the climate of the campus is intensely volatile.
